CHAPTER XVII.

IT was a gloomy Virginia to which Anne returned that anxious fall—a Virginia whose heart beat with the north, where Howe was wearing his famous cord to encircle the throat of the monster rebellion. Pastoral life had ended abruptly; the golden age had become one of iron. "And all the women that were wise hearted did spin with their hands."

Gladden Hall suffered with the rest. Colonel Tillotson was much away on affairs of the committee of safety or at Williamsburg conferring with his excellency Governor Henry, and the looms which were at all turned out cloth for Continental uniforms. Across the plant rows, where the negroes hoed, Groom, the overseer, with cowhide under his arm and his old Pontenoy bell-mouth tawny mask strapped on his back, still walked his horse, with ferret eyes under his broad brimmed hat. But there was little left raised, and the wharfs at the foot of the lawn were overgrown with weeds.

Inside the great house there were the same candle lighted dining room, the high backed chairs, the tall, cumbersome clock, the portraits, the polished sideboard reflecting the slender stemmed glasses. But the meals were silent.

Anne's trouble hung over the household in a shadow that was not lightened by the presence of vaster ones near at hand. She had sorrowed with that festering sorrow that is self accusatory. And to know that never so few, aware of her part in that Philadelphia scene, believed her to have done a heroic thing was like an added death to her. For a time she had fled for refuge to her old passion for the cause. But the effort failed.

One day early in the new year, when the world was dusted with delicate frost like seed pearl, Colonel Tillotson brought to Gladden Hall the news of how "the old fox of Mount Vernon," by a wily double across the icy Delaware, had taken the Hessians at Trenton. Anne heard it apathetically. To her despair, victory and defeat spelled the same.

When the door closed upon her, the colonel looked at his wife silently. "And she still believes in him?"

"As she believes in us," replied the lady softly. "Colonel," she said keenly, "you have heard news."

"Aye," he answered after a pause, "I have. A reply came to Mr. Henry's confidential inquiries today. There is no doubt that Armand is the same prisoner who escaped from the Duchess of Gordon off Ambury last August."

"Thank God," breathed Mrs. Tillotson fervently. "I am glad. I can't help it."

"Anne had better not know. 'Twill do her no possible good."

"Colonel," said the lady decisively, "in this I must have my way. I am going to tell her just as fast as I can." She rose, laid aside her knitting, took up a candle and left him standing dubiously before the fire.

The light came back to Anne like the spring sun. The great horror was gone, and in spite of the war's gloom Gladden Hall grew more cheerful again. She devoured the columns of the Gazette and read eagerly letters which came to Henry from abroad.

These told her how the Reprisal, dodging the British sloops of war, had landed Benjamin Franklin safely at Nantes, of his meeting there with Beaumarchais and of his reception in Paris at the little hotel in the Rue Vieille du Temple, where a mercantile sign of "Roderique Hortalez & Co." hid a pleasant conspiracy whose object was the furnishing of war supplies to the American colonists, and whose silent partners were a prime minister and a king. Somewhere, she thought, there in his own land perhaps Armand was safe, not believing in her, but free and unconquered.

The sound of war came nearer when Howe's fleet sailed into the Chesapeake and when Henry, summoned in haste from Hanover, called out the militia. She watched them march through Williamsburg, sixty-four companies strong, but the fleet and the army it carried sailed on to beat back Washington at Brandywine, to enter Philadelphia and turn the great town into an orgy of Tory rejoicing.

So the months passed in alternate hope and despair. Spring unfurled, summer dropped its blooms, autumn singed glebe and copse, snow fell and purified the earth stains. And at last Virginia knew that Burgoyne had been entrapped in the northern forests; that Philadelphia had been evacuated; that the cord which was to encircle the throat of the rebellion had snapped; that France had recognized independence and made a treaty of alliance with the United States.

There followed a closer campaign when Lord Germaine, the king's war minister, having failed to strangle the monster, attacked its extremities, when the redcoats swept into the southern harbors, when Savannah and Augusta fell, when Lincoln's army was caught at Charlestown and Gates routed at Camden, and these were the south's darkest days.

It knew there was no hope from the army in the north—meager, ill clothed, half starved, without magazines, arsenals or credit. Washington lay watching like a hawk Clinton's 10,000 men at New York, hoping for an effective force from France, waiting with the sublime patience which more than all else made him a great soldier.

Virginia bore her burdens unconqueringly, giving of her substance to the struggle, while the slaves which Cornwallis sent scampering from burned lower plantations trailed through her borders, sowing insurrection among the faithful blacks.

"John the Baptist," demanded Anne sternly one day after Groom had reported that scarce fifty slaves remained in the quarters, "an the British come here, are you going to run away too?"

"Mis' Anne," he complained appealingly, "don't yo' know no 'spectable nigger gwine ter list'n ter dem shifless trash what go ramshacklin' 'eroun' widout no homes? Dee ain' no 'count. Yo' couldn' swap 'em off fo' slacks. Yo' knows I ain' nuff'er gwine leabe de plantation what I wuz drug up. Dat Cornwalis! Huh! Dis nigger suell de brimstone what's huntin' fo' him."

When the sky looked blackest came General Nathaniel Greene into the south, young, light hearted and eager. And what did he not accomplish? He welded anew the scattered remnants of Gates' army, fanned North Carolina Whiggery into a blaze, beat Tarleton, sent Cornwallis back, breathing hard, to the seacoast. It was the end of the second campaign.

"What will King George do now?" Anne asked Henry feebly.

His face was very grave as he answered: "There is only one thing left. 'Tis a stroke at the heart of the rebellion. And that heart is here in Virginia." He guessed truly.

There were hasty preparations for flight throughout the lower peninsula on that snow shod day when the traitor Arnold's fifty ships came to anchor off Jamestown island. The sky was a ceiling of translucent gray. The stubby cedars trailed sweeping boughs of crystallized beryl, and every shrub was eased in argent armor. Fleet horsemen had ridden from Williamsburg in all directions rousing the frozen countryside.

At noon Anne took her place in the chariot beside Mrs. Tillotson, bound for Dr. Walker's of Castle Hill, far enough north to be beyond the reach of the invaders. Her aunt was to fare even farther, to Berkeley.

They waved brave goodbys through tears to the little group of house negroes whimpering on the porch. Raleigh was to go with the remaining servants to Brandon, Mammy Evaline was left in charge of the place, and John the Baptist, her son, was to care for the horses and run them off on approach of the British. The house linen and silver Anne had buried with her own hands, and the family portraits had been hidden under the stables.

It was a sad journey, but one performed that day by more than one household.

Colonel Tillotson rode a part of the way beside the coach. "Twill not be for long," he insisted cheerfully. "I have assurance from Mr. Henry that Washington will send troops before spring breaks. He thought it would be General Lafayette—the young French marquis who passed through Williamsburg, you remember. Would Washington himself could come!" he added fervently.

But his wife was not to be comforted. "Colonel," she cried brokenly, "I feel sure we shall never see Gladden Hall again."

More than once before spring came tiptoeing down the trees Anne looked out to the north from quiet Castle Hill, homesick for a sight of Greenway Court and Baron Fairfax. Weakness and age had at last sent the old man to his chair, and he sat through the long days sorrowfully patient, as his ancestor, the hero of Naseby fight, sat at Denton in Yorkshire, waiting the coming of the victorious banners of the king.

The beginnings of the struggle had found him doggedly wrathful. "Bill of rights," he said. "I would shout. 'I want no benefit of it. I am a colonial and loyal.'"

And when his neighbors contended that what they stood for was the old issue for which their ancestors broke pikes at Marston Moor he turned his back upon them.

In the Old Dominion there was comparative tranquillity, but even in the forest he had heard the first blare of the king's armies in Boston and New York with a hungering fear that drew his eyes often wistfully toward Mount Vernon. There sat the lad he had trained and molded, "the first soldier in Virginia," a grave man. They whispered evil things of this man's loyalty now, but the baron for long shut his ears and would not hear.

The time came soon when Tories were hated, despised, driven by fire from their homes, their property confiscated. But this old man alone was not touched.

"Let the rebels come!" he had roared, pounding the floor with his thorn stick. "Let them come! I met the Indians here in '55, and I leave for no cursed rebels. The king may not be able to protect, but he will reimburse me."

But Tories and Whigs passed by alike, and not a pound was touched in his storehouse, not a horse taken from his stables. When the foragers swept the valleys his field slaves slunk away with the rest, but he had not a house negro who did not stay with him to the end.

The final chapter was opened at last. Lafayette was marching southward with twelve hundred of Washington's own light infantry. The word had struck sharper than an adder's tooth—the bloody snows of Valley Forge, the pelting retreat through the Jerseys, want, rout, discouragement and despair! The king must win, and George Washington was gone too far even for his love's forgiveness. Now he sent his rebels to his own natal colony to hurl them in a final desperate attack at the king's throat.

After this news the baron took to his couch and closed his doors against report. Through all the war Washington had found time to send gentle and tender letters to his old friend. These my lord had read, longing for some sign of sorrow or of turning, but they had brought none. Now he read no more.

One morning Anne stood at the deep set window of her room at Castle Hill. Far away, their dim splendor relieved by golden gorges of early sunlight, reared the solitary mountains, hung with pale green, pale gold and blent lavender and graylike faded tapestries. The June breeze was soft with the first thrill of summer, blowing across the shelving fields. Birds were fluting in the tulip trees, and the dewed odor of roses lay on the garden, drenchingly sweet. The place seemed safe folded in a cloud, far away across the Virginia hills.

A distant clatter came to her, and she looked and listened where the eastern road bent behind clusters of trees. Almost before she had guessed the meaning of the sound a troop of dragons, whose red coats proclaimed them British, dashed into view and rode at top speed toward the house.

The British! So far to the westward! What could it mean? Then, in clutching apprehension, she fled downstairs to Mrs. Walker's room, to find that lady already dressing with speed and trepidation. As she opened the door, the yard below swarmed with a confusion of soldiers and shrieking servants.

Tokio, May 23.—During a reconnaissance of Port Arthur made by Admiral Togo, a shell hit the torpedo boat destroyer Akatsuki, killing one officer and twenty-four men.

London, May 23.—The correspondent of the Times on board that paper's steamer, the Halmun, which is still excluded from the real theater of war, gives a review of the present position of affairs and says: "Reserves from Japan are being brought to reinforce General Kuroki's lines of communication where they are being harassed by Cossacks.

"General Kuroki appears to be waiting for the landing and co-operation of a third army. It was while holding the Miao-Tao straits against torpedo attacks from Port Arthur for the passage of transports with the third army that the Hatsu met with disaster.

"Realizing that they were effectively isolated, the Port Arthur Russians made their desperation an excuse for sowing the whole gulf of Pechili with floating blockade mines.

"It is reported that they sent launches and junks to drop mines in the paths of the Japanese warships and transports. The mines drifted to the high seas and to Chinese waters, constituting the gravest danger to neutral shipping.

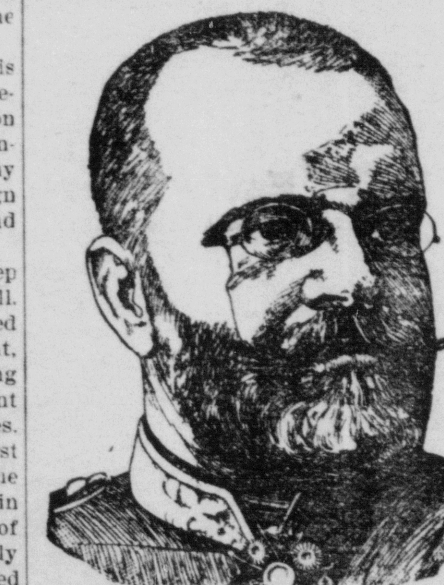

"Yesterday the Halmun passed two floating mines within six miles of Wei Hai Wei.

"Even as the act of a desperate garrison this must be in violation of the law of nations."

SKRYDOFF WELCOMED

Admiral Makaroff's Successor on the Scene of War.

Vladivostok, May 23.—Vice Admiral Skrydoff arrived here Sunday afternoon. He was met at the Okeansk station, outside of Vladivostok, by Major General Veronetz and deputations of the military, naval and municipal authorities as well as by an enthusiastic crowd and was presented with bread and salt. Entering the town, the admiral drove to the pier in an open carriage, escorted by Cossacks, and boarded the cruiser Rossia, on which a short service was held. The chaplain sprinkled and blessed the admiral's flag before it was run up to the masthead, where it was greeted with a salute from all the cruisers in the harbor.

The Japanese cruisers reported as being between Gensan and Vladivostok have so far not been sighted. The opening of Vladivostok to trade has as yet had no effect in reviving business, which is at a complete standstill.

Baby's Shocking Death. Evansville, Ind., May 23.—The three-year-old child of Ellis Johnson of Gibson county, fell into a kettle of boiling water and was cooked to death.

WHETTING THEIR BLADES

Disappointed Hearstites Do Not Conceal Their Soreness.

Indianapolis, May 23.—That the Democrats of Indiana have not heard the last of the bitter war between the Hearst and Parker fellows for control of the delegation to the national convention at St. Louis was evident today from the statement of one very prominent party leader, who, however, for obvious reasons did not care to have his name used publicly with it. He confirmed the reports that the disappointed Hearst men in the Second district are now hot on the trail of Representative Bob Miers of Bloomington. The latter, he said, was on out-and-out Parker man until he saw that the Hearst crowd was making great headway in his district, then he backed water and his close friend, John R. East, made a harmony speech at the convention, pleading against instructions and expressing the opinion that neither Hearst nor Parker would be the man nominated. Your correspondent's informant says that not only the Hearst but the Parker men as well in the Second are mad at Miers and are threatening to go after him during the campaign. Word has also been received here indicating that the Hearst men in the Twelfth may refuse to support Congressman James Robinson because of the stand he took in favor of Parker. Confronted with the prospects of a loss of two of their districts, the Democrats are not at all pleased over the result of the convention.

It looks as if this is going to be a year in which "boy candidates" are to have a show. Several leading Democrats of the Fifth district are authority for the statement that Claude Bowers of Terre Haute is to be nominated for congress. Bowers is a young newspaper man who is noted as a brilliant speaker. He formerly resided here and took an important part among the young Democratic politicians. There was talk of running him for congress here before he moved to Terre Haute, but it died out. However, the talk now about making him the Fifth district nominee seems serious. He is willing, it is said, to tackle the proposition in the face of the big Republican majority. Many of his friends believe that he can outdistance the veteran congressman Elias T. Holliday if the vote on the presidential and state tickets should happen to be close. In this district there is some talk among the Democrats of nominating Frank P. Baker for congress. He is another "boy orator" and was formerly a member of Bowers' crowd. He is well liked, however, and is a hard worker. In the Thirteenth district there is talk among the Democrats about renominating Frank Herring of South Bend for congress. He is another member of the "boy orator" class, but he made an excellent impression in his race two years ago. Among the Republicans Fred Landis of Logansport is so far the only "boy orator" and his reputation is well established.

A meeting of the executive committee of the Republican county committee was held here this afternoon to fix the date for the convention to nominate candidates for the legislature. It was the understanding when the meeting began that the convention would be held before the middle of June. This feature of the local campaign is watched with deepest interest by leaders of both parties, as the county is entitled to twelve members, including the two joint districts. So whichever party carries Marion county is reasonably sure of having a majority of the members of the session on joint ballot. The Republicans have carried the county in the last four campaigns, but there are signs of returning vitality among the Democrats, and the Republican leaders are being urged to put forward their best men. There is no doubt that the legislative convention here will strongly endorse the candidacy of Senator Albert J. Beveridge, but it is feared by some of the leaders that friction may be caused by the efforts of friends of certain men who expect to be candidates for the senate in case Senator Fairbanks is elected vice president. They are, it is said, exerting all their influence in pushing forward men who will look after their interests.

Information was received at the Republican state committee rooms today that the Hon. Quincy A. Blankenship of Martinsville is about to try to get into the legislature as a representative for Morgan county. Blankenship was a member two sessions and was one of the Republican leaders. His brusque methods, however, were not always taken kindly, but at that he was regarded as one of the leaders on his side. If he receives the nomination and is elected it is rumored that he may become a candidate for the speakership, or at least for the floor leadership.

He Wanted the Insurance. Evansville, Ind., May 23.—William Schrader, a young glass blower, was convicted in the circuit court of arson and will be sentenced to from one to twenty-one years in the penitentiary. Schrader's wife was away from home on a visit early in the month, and during her absence the husband attempted to destroy their home by fire in order to secure insurance money.

Bicycling "Looking Up." Cleveland, O., May 23.—Two thousand men, women, girls and boys made up a bicycle run party to Gordon park in this city Sunday morning. The occasion is remarkable in that it is the first instance of so large a gathering of wheel riders taking a run in this city in at least five years.

SUNDAY DISASTER

Fireworks Factory Working Overtime Was Blown Into Little Bits.

SEVEN PERSONS KILLED

That Many Met Instant Death and Many Others Were So Terribly Injured They Will Die.

Without an Instant's Warning a Novelty Works at Findlay, O., Was Blown to Pieces.

Findlay, Ohio, May 23.—As a result of an explosion in the two drying rooms of the Lake Shore Novelty company's plant here Sunday, seven persons are known to be dead; five are so seriously hurt that recovery is believed to be impossible, and twelve or fifteen are injured badly. From reports of the physicians, ten of the less seriously injured may die as a result of blood poisoning from the potash that was driven into their bodies.

The dead: Joseph Sherwood, aged 21; Jay Sherwood, aged 24; Edith Dillon, 17; Dean Shaw, 18; Mary Snyder, 22; Estella Decker, 15; Frank Grant, 21. All of the above, with the exception of Estella Decker and Frank Grant, were killed instantly. The latter two died after being removed to their homes.

The injured, whom it is believed cannot recover, are: Maggie Logan, aged 19, injured by flying debris; Thos. Bock, struck in the back by flying barrel, arms and legs broken, internally injured; Claude Shaw, twin brother of Dean, badly injured and ankle broken; Effie Jeterman, caught in falling debris and internally injured; Roy Peterman, badly injured by falling debris. Three others whose names could not be learned were also cut and burned. Two employees are missing and are supposed to have been blown to atoms.

The Lake Shore Novelty works plant covered nearly ten acres of ground in the southwest part of the city and employed nearly 200 men, women and children. Railroad torpedoes and Fourth of July explosives were manufactured. Owing to the large rush of orders, the officials of the plant requested the employees to report for duty Sunday. About thirty complied with the request.

The concussion was felt for miles around. Two magazines in separate rooms at the novelty works were exploded simultaneously with a terrible report. The exact cause of the explosion is not definitely known. It is surmised that one of the Sherwood brothers, who were the only persons in the drying room, dropped a large box of torpedoes, but this theory cannot be confirmed. Human forms were strewn considerable distances apart on the factory site. The large plant is shattered into fragments, not one single wall remaining. Bricks and timber can be found for half a mile around.

HEARST'S FORLORN HOPE

Ohio "Conservatives" Will Shut Him Out in Convention.

Columbus, Ohio, May 23.—There are more early visitors here than usual for the Democratic convention tomorrow and Wednesday. This is due to contests in many county delegations and the desire of contestants "to be heard" as soon as they can meet delegates and leaders. There have been fights in most of the eighty-eight counties for Hearst delegates. All who are opposed to Hearst are called conservatives. As the latter have a majority of the uncontested delegates, they will no doubt decide the contests against the Hearst contestants and control the convention. The conservatives are, however, divided in their presidential preferences between Colonel James Kilbourne of Columbus, who was the Democratic candidate for governor three years ago, Judge Judson Harmon, who was attorney general under President Cleveland, and Joseph Folk of Missouri. Previous to his defeat for governor last year and his loss of control of the state committee this year, Mayor Tom L. Johnson of Cleveland was considered a candidate for the Democratic nomination for president, but he is now heading the boom in Ohio for Folk. No instructions for any candidate are expected, but either Kilbourne or Harmon will be endorsed as "the Ohio favorite" and the delegates will be instructed "to vote as a unit whenever a majority of the delegation so elects."

It is claimed by the conservatives that under such a modified "unit rule" Hearst would not get a vote from Ohio, although his friends have carried several districts. While no attempt will be made to instruct for Parker or even to commend him, it is believed that he is the second choice of both the Kilbourne and the Harmon men, who expect to control the convention.

MUCH-MARRIED MAN

Three Women Appear as Widows of a Des Moines Citizen.

Des Moines, Ia., May 23.—When the remains of the late E. L. Dubois, a prominent contractor of this city, were carried to the cemetery Sunday, they were followed by three women, each of whom claims to be his lawful widow. One came from Denver, Colo., giving the name of Mary E. Dubois, and claiming that she was married to the dead man in 1880 in Joplin, Mo., and that she had three children by him. The second Mrs. Dubois came from New Orleans. She refused to talk of her claims. The third woman was married to Dubois at West Union, Ia., and has lived here with him for some years. There were no scenes at the funeral, the women pledging friends of the dead man not to make a disturbance, and they passed themselves off as relatives.

Dubois had a notable career. He was a Frenchman and was an officer in the Franco-Prussian war. As a contractor he did work in all parts of the world, notably in Brazil, where he was decorated by the government for his achievements. He came to Des Moines about nine years ago and was prominent in fraternal and business circles. Prior to coming here he lived in New Orleans, Denver and other cities. Dubois was successful as a contractor and left a considerable estate. An effort is being made to effect a settlement among the rival claimants for his property.

It Required Fourteen Ballots. Los Angeles, Cal., May 23.—Dr. J. R. Day, chancellor of Syracuse, N. Y., was the eighth and last bishop chosen by the Methodist general conference. His election was effected on the fourteenth ballot. The complete list of the bishops chosen, in the order of election, follows: Joseph F. Berry, Chicago; Henry F. Spillmeyer, Newark, N. An Unusual Coincidence. Fort Wayne, Ind., May 23.—Two young children met accidental death from drowning in opposite parts of the county. One was the six-year-old son of Jacob Christian, living near Arcola, who fell into a stock-watering trough and perished before he was discovered. The other was the two-year-old son of Anthony Fox, who fell from a fence into a watering trough and was unnoticed by the other children until all chance to revive him was gone.

Old Feud Terminates Fatally. Nevada, Mo., May 23.—R. T. Wall, a wealthy banker and merchant of Richards village, twelve miles northwest of Nevada, was shot and killed on the street there by Dr. J. T. Todd, equally prominent, and a former member of the Missouri legislature. Wall and Todd had lived in Richards for more than thirty years, and a feud had existed between them for twenty-five years.

The Turkish Method. Constantinople, May 23.—It is said that the authorities contemplate destroying all Armenian villages in the Sassun district of Asia Minor in order to prevent the concentration of insurgents in the mountains and the installation of the villagers on the plain, where they may be better supervised.

Pastor stories have been written of magic mirrors in which the future was revealed. If such a thing were possible many a bright-faced bride would shrink from the revelation of herself, stripped of all her loveliness. If there is one thing which would make a woman shrink from marriage it is to see the rapid physical deterioration which comes to so many wives. The cause is generally due to womanly diseases. Lost health and lost comeliness are restored by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It cures irregularity and dries weakening drains. It heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. "It is with the greatest pleasure that I tell you what Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has done for me," writes Mrs. Emma L. Banks, of 1925 North 7th Street, Harrisburg, Pa. "They have done me a world of good. I had female weakness for six years; sometimes would feel so badly I did not know what to do, but I found relief at last, thanks to Dr. Pierce for his kind advice. I have this medicine still in my house and will always keep it." If you are led to the purchase of "Favorite Prescription" because of its remarkable cures of other women, do not accept a substitute which has none of these cures to its credit. Free. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Or for cloth-bound volume send 31 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Township Primary Election

Notice is hereby given to the republicans of Jackson township, Jackson county, Indiana, that the republican township primary election will be held Saturday, June 18, 1904, on which date a candidate for township trustee and a candidate for township assessor will be nominated.

By order of the township committee,
C. D. BILLINGS, Chairman.

ANNOUNCEMENTS:

Assessor.

J. W. MASSMAN is a candidate for trustee of Jackson township, subject to the republican primary election June 18, 1904.

THOMAS W. WHITSON is a candidate for assessor of Jackson township, subject to the republican primary election June 18, 1904.

A MARTINSVILLE man was blown to pieces Sunday while dynamiting fish in White river. Fishing with dynamite and on Sunday, too, shows a recklessness that is liable to have an unfortunate ending.

BRYAN expresses himself as confident that the democrats will reaffirm the Kansas City platform, "paramount issue" and all. And if the party cares for consistency it can leave neither that platform nor the "peerless leader" out of account.

THE man Wall street has picked for the democrats to nominate for president is Parker. The people know nothing about his qualifications or what he believes as to current issues. Wall street is satisfied with him. But will the democratic party permit Wall street to control it?

Political Gossip.

Thomas W. Whitson makes formal announcement of his candidacy for assessor of Jackson township to succeed himself. Mr. Whitson is well known to the people of Jackson township and has their confidence. He has performed his duties as township assessor remarkably well, being well informed on matters of taxation and being very attentive to business. Mr. Whitson is a good citizen and has a host of enthusiastic friends.

J. W. Massman is a candidate for assessor of Jackson township and makes formal announcement today. Mr. Massman has been a resident of Seymour for many years and is well known over the township. He served as deputy assessor several years and is familiar with all the duties and requirements of the office and is therefore well equipped for the position to which he aspires. He is a good citizen and has many friends.

Everett Frazer Hurt.

Engineer Everett Frazer, of Birmingham, Ala., formerly of this city, was quite badly hurt while on his run from Birmingham to Chattanooga, last Friday. Something struck him while in the cab and cut a gash five inches long on his head leaving him unconscious. The train was running and it is believed run about forty miles from the time he was hit until he was found unconscious by the fireman. He was taken to a hospital in Chattanooga and Saturday was taken to his home. He nor no one else knows what hit him. He will recover.

SASSED THE UMPIRE

And Game Between Seymour and Columbus Ended in a Wrangle.

The Columbus base ball team came down Sunday to try a game with the Seymour Reds. It was the first game this season for the Reds but the Columbus boys have been playing for a month.

The game started off very well and the large crowd was enjoying it, for the two teams were evenly enough matched to make it interesting. And in fact they were putting up a good game on both sides.

But in the last half of the seventh inning trouble arose which put an end to the game right there. The score then stood 10 to 9 in favor of Seymour and Columbus was at the bat. Don G. Scott, captain of the Columbus team, was on third and tried to reach home and tie the score, but the ball was there ahead of him and Umpire Miller called him out. He resented the umpire's decision and got sassy and used coarse epithets within the hearing of the crowd. Umpire Miller promptly and very properly, too, ruled him out of the game. Captain Scott then called the Columbus players in and the game was forfeited to Seymour.

Had the Columbus captain not lost his head and temper and played the game out all would have been well no matter who won. The Reds play clean ball and have always had the reputation of being courteous and fair with visiting teams.

The line up in Sunday's game was as follows:

DIED.

ABEL—Mrs. Elizabeth Abel died at her home west Fourth street Sunday afternoon of general debility, aged 70 years. She had lived in Seymour nearly forty years and was well known and had many friends. She had been a member of the Methodist church many years. She was the widow of Wash Abel, who was a soldier in the civil war and died while in the army. She leaves two children, Mrs. Aaron Cross and Chas. H. Abel. Funeral Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence, conducted by Rev. Harley Jackson. Burial at River view cemetery.

DIXON—Mrs. Louisa Dixon, wife of William Dixon, died at her home two miles north of Fort Ritner Friday, May 20, 1904, aged 76 years 7 months. She was born near Leesville and was married 56 years ago. Her husband, who survives, is 81 years old. They celebrated their golden wedding six years ago. She leaves seven children, four boys and three girls, all of whom are married with the exception of Virgil, the oldest son. In 1856 she united with the Baptist church, of which she remained a member until her death. The funeral was held Sunday conducted by an old schoolmate, Rev. I. Carothers, of Mitchell. Burial at the Dixon cemetery.

WEEKLY.—Martin L. Weekly died at his home at Spraytown Friday evening, aged 67 years. The immediate cause of his death was paralysis. Funeral at 10 a. m. Sunday at Spraytown conducted by Rev. Smith, of Freetown, and was very largely attended.

Mr. Weekly was one of the best known and most highly esteemed residents of Salt Creek township and had many friends throughout the county. He was postmaster at Spraytown for years.

Disastrous Wrecks.

Carelessness is responsible for many a railway wreck and the same causes are making human wreck of sufferers from Throat and Lung troubles. But since the advent of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs, and Colds, even the worst cases can be cured, and hopeless resignation is no longer necessary. Mrs. Lois Crag of Dorchester, Mass., is one of many whose life was saved by Dr. King's New Discovery. This great remedy is guaranteed for all Throat and Lung diseases by W. F. Peter Drug Co. WEEKS MURDER TRIAL

Continuance Denied by Judge Buskirk.

On account of the inability of Prosecutor R. G. Miller, of the Lawrence circuit court, to be at Brownstown until the McDonald trial at Bedford has been completed, a postponement of the trial of Mrs. Cora Weeks was asked this morning, but Judge Buskirk declined to reset the case.

The work of impaneling a jury was then begun and after an hour or two the following jurors were agreed to: Thos. Reiley, Harmon J. Eggersman, Henry Bahl, Wm. F. Snyder, James Ball, W. J. Durham, August Graf, John Hagerman, Thos. W. Whitson, Garnet Saltmarsh, Fred Daab and M. F. Brown.

Several Whitnesses were absent and an attachment was issued for them and if they get there in time the taking of evidence will begin in the morning.

Prosecutor John M. Lewis is in charge of the prosecution and A. N. Munden will assist in the defense.

Display Installed in the Largest Governmental Exposition Building Ever Constructed—Precious Documents—Relics of Famous Statesmen and Soldiers.

Working Postal Exhibit.

The United States Government building at the World's Fair occupies an elevated site just south of the main picture of the Exposition. The great central dome of the Government building is visible from the very center of the fair, looking across the picturesque sunken garden that lies between the Palaces of Mines and Metallurgy and Liberal Arts.

The hill slope in front of the Government building is terraced with broad stairways almost completely covering the slope. The building is 800 feet long by 250 feet wide and is the largest structure ever provided at an exposition by the federal government. It is distinguished from all the other large buildings at the Exposition by the steel truss construction, the entire roof being supported by steel arches, forming a splendid domed ceiling.

In this building are installed the exhibits of all the executive departments of the government. The building is a vast storehouse of an endless variety of treasures dear to the heart of every true American. Precious documents are to be seen here, and the autographs of our great men of the past are on display. Relics of famous statesmen and soldiers, carefully preserved through generations, are exhibited. Each governmental department has installed an exhibit showing its official character and mode of operation.

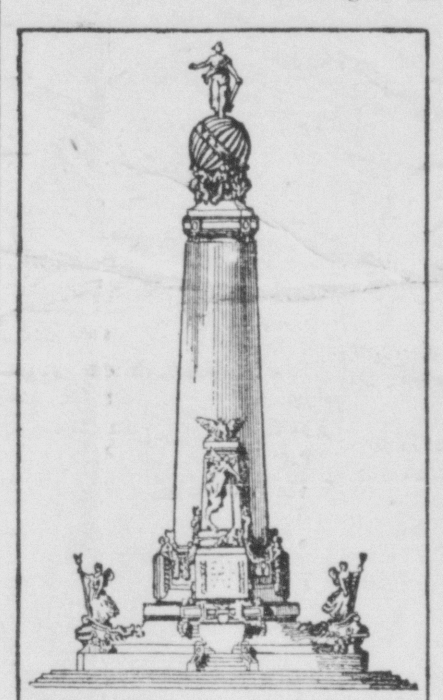

Entering the Government building from the eastern end, the visitor sees at his left a railroad postoffice car. This is not a mere coach standing idle, but is one of the most improved mail cars, in which men attached to the United States railway mail service are actively engaged in "throwing" the mails. Here you will see the postal clerks at work, just as they work while speeding along a railroad track.

A curious collection of old time relics from the postoffice museum at Washington illustrates as no verbal description can do the crude beginnings of the postal system. One of these relics is an old fashioned stage-coach that once carried United States mails through a portion of the Louisiana purchase territory. President Roosevelt, who once inspected it, examined with a rough rider's interest the bullet holes which stage robbers and mountain brigands shot through its stiff leathern curtains. Generals Sherman and Sheridan and President Garfield rode in this old coach during the strenuous days of frontier life. Among the collection of documents showing the primitive postal methods in vogue in the early days is to be seen the old book of accounts kept by the first postmaster general, Benjamin Franklin, all written by hand. There is a rare collection of stamps, including ancient Filipino, Porto Rican and Cuban stamps. The postoffice department's exhibit occupies 12,469 square feet.

Across the aisle, at the right, is the exhibit of the new Department of Commerce and Labor, occupying 1,966 square feet. This exhibit shows what the new executive department stands for and what it is accomplishing. Mr. Carroll D. Wright, United States Commissioner of Labor, had charge of the preparation of the exhibit. Charts arranged by him, showing the rapid growth of the nation in agriculture, arts, manufacture, population, etc., are of special interest to sociologists and all students of the labor problem. The Census Bureau exhibit is made in this section. It shows the tabulating machines used in compiling the census reports. The Lighthouse Board, also operating under this department, shows the great revolving lenses in light-houses, with other interesting appliances.

The space in the projecting northwest corner of the building is devoted to the Library of Congress. The edifice which houses this library at Washington is held by many architects to be the most beautiful building in the world. Its interior decorations, by Elmer Ellsworth Gurnsey, furnish one of the chief delights of a visit to the national capital. A large model of this splendid building is a feature of the exhibit. The decorative features of the interior are reproduced in their original colors.

The next exhibit on the right hand side of the central aisle is that of the Interior Department, occupying 11,792 square feet. In this large space the visitor finds so many things of compelling interest that he is loath to leave. The Patent Office exhibit belongs to this section. There are models of many machines that have borne an important part in the development of the nation's industries. The earliest form of every device of human invention, so far as possible, is shown here. For instance, you may see the actual sewing machine that was the first contrivance of its kind ever constructed; it was patented in 1846 by Elias Howe. The first typewriter, patented by C. Thurber in 1842; the model of the first cast iron plow, patented by Charles Newbold in 1797; the first screw propeller, invented by Robert Hook in 1680; and many other "first" things are to be seen. The model of Abraham Lincoln's celebrated device for lifting steamboats off shoals is shown here. The first harvesting machine, made in the year 150 B. C., is one of the most ancient exhibits at the Exposition. There is also a model of the first steam engine, made in Egypt in the same year.

Every foot of the 200,000 feet of floor space in Uncle Sam's World's Fair building is occupied by exhibits of surpassing interest, and every phase of the people's welfare is shown.

SOME FACTS ON THE TRUST QUESTION.

There is a great difference of opinion among Democratic leaders as to issues, but there seems to be a general agreement among them that the trust question is paramount. In this connection the New York World, one of the great Democratic newspapers of the country, under the caption "Facts" presents some interesting and significant information that might well be pasted in the hat of every man who takes an interest in politics. The World says:

"1. The anti-trust law was framed by a Republican, was passed by a Republican house and a Republican senate, was signed by a Republican president.

"2. The law removed a dead letter on the statute books during the entire second term of Grover Cleveland, a Democratic president. Through those four years of Democratic administration all appeals and all efforts of the World to have the law enforced were met with sneers, jeers and open contempt from the Democratic attorney general, Richard Olney, who pretended that the law was unconstitutional, and who would do nothing toward prosecuting violators of it.

"3. The first effort to enforce the law was made by Theodore Roosevelt, a Republican president. The first attorney general to vigorously prosecute offenders and to test the law was a Republican attorney general, Philander C. Knox.

"4. The decision of the supreme court of the United States, given as a finality from which there is no appeal, upholding the law as perfectly constitutional and absolutely impregnable in every respect, as the World for twelve years constantly insisted, was due to five judges, every one of whom is a Republican.

"5. The dissenting minority of the court included every Democratic judge of that tribunal, to-wit: Chief Justice Fuller of Illinois; Mr. Justice White of Louisiana, and Mr. Justice Peckham of New York. All these distinguished Democrats not only voted against the constitutionality of the law, but denounced it as a danger to the republic.

"6. Under these circumstances it does not seem probable that the Democrats can make great capital in seeking to monopolize the anti-trust issue and charging the Republican party with the crime of being owned body and soul by the trusts.

"It is just as well to record some plain truths, however unpleasant or surprising."

DEMOCRATIC REORGANIZATION

Pretexts From Democratic Papers Quoted in Mr. Bryan's Commoner.

Benton (Mo.) Record: If the reorganizers capture the national Democratic organization it will be no more a case of the tail wagging the dog, but of the hair on the end of the dog's tail dominating the whole animal.

Troy (O.) Democrat: Upon what theory are these Democratic traitors, or reorganizers, to be put in command of the party of the people in the year 1904? For eight years they have been acting as spies and traitors to aid the Republican party, so that their friends in Wall street should not be disturbed. And now they have the audacity to demand the leadership in the great battle of 1904. But if the people of the United States guard their interests they will not place them in the hands of the reorganizers, but will put the Democratic cause in charge of true friends of the country.

Wabasha (Minn.) Herald: The word "reorganize" has a delicious sound to the ears of a gold Democrat. He thinks he sees necessity for reorganization on all sides, at all times. Reorganization is his cure for all ills. In fact, he is fully as strong a reorganizer now as he was a disorganizer a few years ago, and as he will be, in all likelihood, a few months hence.

Albion (Mich.) Mirror: The handful of bolters who sought to reorganize the Democratic party and force Grover Cleveland upon nearly seven millions of voters who stood by the guns in 1896 and 1900, have about given up the attempt. The doors of the Democratic party are open and they are welcome to come in, but it is asking too much to expect the party to go to them.

Woman Charged With Murder. Canton, Ohio, May 23.—Grace Batdorf, who claims to be Mrs. Taylor, wife of George H. Taylor, manager of the American Woolen Mills Company Tailors, murdered in his store soon after midnight Sunday morning, is in jail on suspicion of the murder.

Dunkards in Session. Dayton, Ohio, May 23.—More than 10,000 Dunkards, members of the old German Baptist denomination and representing every part of the United States, are holding their annual conference at the Filburn farm, six miles northwest of this city.

Fate of the Bogatir. St. Petersburg, May 23.—Private advices received from Vladivostok confirm the report that the cruiser Bogatir was run on the rocks. Officials claim they have no intimation regarding the accident.

Senator Quay's Condition. Beaver, Pa., May 23.—Senator M. S. Quay left his brother's home at Morgantown Sunday and is now located at his home at this place. At his home it was said the senator stood the journey well.

A Runaway Bicycle. Terminated with an ugly cut on the leg of J. B. Orner, Franklin Grove, Ill. It developed a stubborn ulcer unyielding to doctors and remedies for four years. Excursions via Pennsylvania Lines to that Pretty Resort.

With the opening of the season at Winona Lake, May 15th, the sale of excursion tickets over the Pennsylvania Lines to that attractive resort in Northern Indiana will begin. Every summer passed there by thousands has only increased their desire to return. On the golf links, the tennis courts, the baseball or cricket grounds, the croquet field, or boating on the lake, fishing, camping, swimming, driving, or attending recitals and lectures by world-famed personages in the auditorium—whatever the diversion may be, the associations are of that congenial sort conferred by good society. This resort is noted as the site of Winona Assembly and Summer School, attracting teachers and students from educational institutions of this and other countries.

Fifteen-day and season excursion tickets will be sold from ticket stations on the Pennsylvania Lines during the summer. For information about fares and times of trains, apply to local ticket agents, or to F. Van Dusen, Chief Assistant General Passenger Agent, Pittsburgh, Pa. Illustrated literature describing attractions of Winona Lake may be had for the asking. Address S. C. Not A Sick Day Since.

"I was taken severely sick with kidney trouble. I tried all sorts of medicines, none of which relieved me. One day I saw an ad. of your Electric Blitters and determined to try that. After taking a few doses I felt relieved, and soon there-after was entirely cured, and have not seen a sick day since. Neighbors of mine have been cured of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Liver and Kidney troubles and General Debility. This is what B. F. Bass, of Fremont, N. C. writes. Only 50c. at W. F. Peter Drug Co.

If Your Eyes Could Talk

They would lead you to us and later thank you for the relief and comfort and easy, restful vision our lenses afford. In lieu of words they cry and ache—thus hint and warn. Will you take the warning? Here are a few hints: Headache, dizziness, aversion to bright light, sleepy feeling while reading, blurring of objects either at close range or distance, frowning or squinting, smarting or burning sensation in or around the eyes, fatigue or requiring stronger light when reading, dark spots floating, or bright lights flashing before the eyes. These are but few of the many symptoms. When your eyes suggest a visit to us, we can assure you the best lense aid within the reach of human knowledge at moderate prices. No exorbitant charge for examinations. No medicine or drugs or their unpleasant and annoying effects to contend with. Lenses that are always comfortable and scientifically fitted.

ALWAYS TIRED NEVER RESTED

To be tired out from hard work or bodily exercise is natural and rest is the remedy, but there is an exhaustion without physical exertion and a tired, never-rested feeling—a weariness without work that is unnatural and shows some serious disorder is threatening the health. One of the chief causes of that "Always-tired, never-rested condition" is impure blood and bad circulation. Unless the body is nourished with rich, pure blood there is lack of nervous force, the muscles become weak, the digestion impaired, and general disorder occurs throughout the system. Debility, insomnia, nervousness, indigestion, dyspepsia, loss of appetite, strength and energy, and the hundreds of little ailments we often have are due directly to a bad condition of the blood and circulation, and the quickest way to get rid of them is by purifying and building up the blood, and for this purpose no remedy equals S. S. S., which contains the best ingredients for cleansing the blood and toning up the system. It is a vegetable blood purifier and tonic combined, that enriches the blood, and through it the entire system is nourished and refreshing sleep comes to the tired, never-rested, body.

For over four years I suffered with general debility, causing a thorough breaking down of my system. My cousin, who had been benefited by S. S. S., told me about it. I tried it and it cured me. I heartily recommend S. S. S. to all who may feel the need of a thoroughly good blood tonic. Yours truly, MRS. JOSIE A. BRITTAIN, 44 W. Ninth St., Columbia, Tenn.

TESTIMONIAL.

MESSRS. WATSON & CO., Indianapolis, Ind., Agents. March 1, 1904.
Dear Sirs:—Replying to your query as to whether I am pleased with the F. P. lighting system which you installed for me fifteen months ago, I will say that it has never given me one minute's trouble nor one dollar's expense. It gives the best light I ever saw for interior use. The actinic rays are of such a character as to make it very desirable when the perfectly natural colors of objects are to be distinguished without confusion.

As to cost of maintenance, I think my experience, based upon close observation, will warrant the statement that it is under $80 per annum, and our store is open every day in the year until 11 o'clock p. m., except on Sunday, one hour less. Under the same condition, and with the most approved facilities for the distribution of light, our bills for illuminating gas were about $200 per year, and for electric light (arcs) about $400 to $420 per annum, and at no time have we had more than one-half the light we now have.

I am particularly pleased with the light, and the fact that it is so economical makes it the more desirable.

As you can readily figure, I paid for my apparatus and cost of light in about four or five months. Yours truly, R. L. EADS.

MAKING HIM LOOK PLEASANT.

Is an easy thing when we quote our prices on building lumber. A pleasant surprise always awaits the contractor and builder when he visits our yard after getting prices elsewhere and seeing the superior quality of high grade lumber, hard-wood trim, flooring, laths, shingles and that we are selling at bed-rock prices. Our lumber is of high quality, well seasoned and beyond competition, price considered.

Summer Outings in Wisconsin.

Over a hundred summer resorts located on the Wisconsin Central railway between Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Ashland, offer to the summer tourist all attractions in the way of rest, comfort and recreation. The hotels are modern and splendidly equipped for the business. Waukesha, Waupaca, Elfeld and a score of other resorts are famous. Beautifully illustrated booklets descriptive of this region will be mailed upon application to Jas. C. Pond, Gen. Pass. Agt., Wis. Cen. R., Milwaukee, Wis. d&w

Brigand Wins His Point.
Tangier, Morocco, May 23.—The Sheriff of Wazan has left to meet Raisuli, the bandit chief, who is said to be at Benlaros. Mohammed El Terres, representative of the sultan of Morocco at Tangier, has empowered the sheriff to say that the government will grant all of the demands of Raisuli if he surrenders, the American, and Cromwell Varley, the British captives, are handed over immediately. The soldiers have already been withdrawn from the district where the bandits are located.

Bryan Doesn't Give Up.
Chicago, May 23.—William J. Bryan said Sunday while in Chicago that he thought the Democratic party would not be reorganized at the St. Louis convention. "The plan to bring about a reorganization of the party will be defeated," he said. "The paramount issue in the campaign will be government by the people as against government by the corporations. The people will control the St. Louis convention and the Kansas City platform will be reaffirmed, in my judgment."

Venezuela Didn't Want Them.
Caracas, Venezuela, May 23.—The government has expelled from Maracaibo twelve Spanish monks who came from the Philippines. The action of the government was taken on the ground that the policy of the monks is incompatible with the tendency of modern society.

State's Evidence About All In.
Bedford, Ind., May 23.—It is thought the state will conclude its testimony in the Schafer murder case by this evening and that the defense will be taken up tomorrow morning. It is understood that James McDonald's defense will be an alibi, which his attorneys declare they are able to prove.

Defense Closing Its Testimony.
Rising Sun, Ind., May 23.—The hearing of the Ciesle case was resumed today, the defendants being placed on the stand. It is thought their examination will be ended by evening, which will conclude the testimony for the defense.

Macon Banker's Suicide.
Macon, Ga., May 23.—Robert H. Plant, president of the First National bank, and owner of the I. C. Plant's Son bank, both placed in the hands of a receiver last week, committed suicide.

THE PERFECT WAY.

Scores of Seymour Citizens have Learned it.

If you suffer from backache There is only one way to cure it. The perfect way is to cure the kidneys. A bad back means sick kidneys. Neglect it, urinary troubles follow. Doan's Kidney Pills are made for kidneys only.

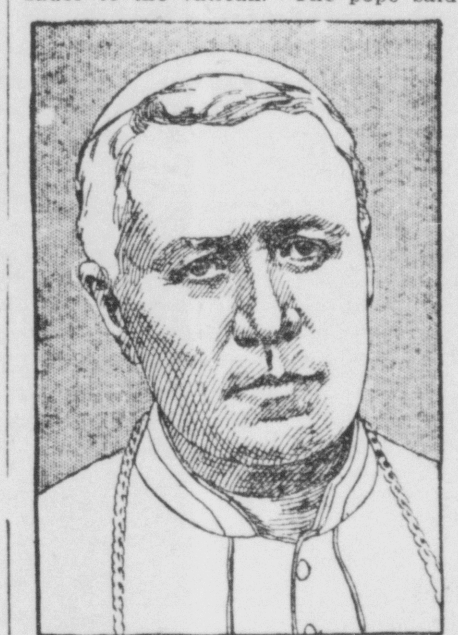

Are endorsed by Seymour people. James Pollard of Cincinnati Ave. railroad employe says. "For many years off and on I suffered from lameness across the loins and sharp twinges of pain in my back every time I made a sudden movement. I could lift nothing of any weight and there was lack of ambition to do anything. At times the pains felt as though some one was plunging a bradawl into me. Any little cold or exposure brought on an attack and caused me acute suffering. I had heard about Doan's Kidney Pills and procured them at C. W. Milhous' drug store. They proved just the remedy I needed and soon relieved me of the whole trouble. My kidneys have been regular and normal ever since and I can sleep all night without being disturbed."

For sale by all dealers; price 50 cts. Foster-Milburn Co. Buffalo. Remember the name Doan's and take no other.

POPE LOOKING INTO IT

France's Rupture With the Vatican Causes Agitation.

Rome, May 23.—Vatican authorities continue to be agitated over the conflict with the French government growing out of the protest against President Loubet's visit to Rome and the recall of M. Nisard, the French ambassador to the Vatican. The pope said mass Sunday morning in the presence of sixty-four Italians and foreigners, and gave up the rest of the day to the consideration of the difficulties with France, reading clippings from the newspapers on the subject. The Vatican authorities hope that M. Nisard will soon return to Rome, being influenced by the fact that his family is still here.

Absorbing Topic in Paris.
Paris, May 23.—The recall of M. Nisard, French ambassador to the Vatican, continues to be the absorbing topic. The ambassador is expected to arrive here tomorrow morning, when he will confer with Foreign Minister Delcasse and go over the details of the rupture between France and the Vatican, preliminary to the meeting of the council of ministers on Tuesday, when a further line of action will be determined upon. Contrary to general expectation, Monsignor Lorenzelli, the papal nuncio at Paris, will not leave his post.

Three Inmates Missing.
Kingston, N. Y., May 23.—The Ulster county poorhouse, three miles from New Paltz, was totally destroyed by fire Sunday afternoon. Three inmates who are missing are supposed to have been burned. The loss is placed at $50,000.

HELD TO ANSWER

Former President of Defunct Matthews National Bank Arrested.

AN INTERESTING CASE

Federal Authorities Say John H. Wood's Trial Will Reveal a Second Elkhart Situation.

It is Charged That Woods Employed Methods Similar to Those of Elkhart Men.

Indianapolis, May 23.—John H. Wood, former president of the defunct First National bank of Matthews, Ind., has been arrested by federal authorities, charged with having wrecked the bank by misapplying and embezzling its funds, making false entries in the bank's books and mismanaging its affairs. Wood was arrested in Oberlin, Ohio, and taken to Cleveland, where he gave bond in the sum of $10,000 to appear in federal court tomorrow, when the date of his trial will be set.

According to the indictment, officials of the district attorney's office say that the trial of Wood will expose another bank machination similar in every respect to the famous Elkhart case, which was tried in the federal court last month, when the three conspirators were sentenced to Fort Leavenworth for terms varying from six to ten years. However, the Matthews bank case is on a smaller scale and not so much money was involved.

It is charged that Wood in his manipulations employed methods similar to those of the Elkhart men. The First National bank of Matthews was not as large an institution as was the Elkhart bank, it being capitalized at $25,000. However, it was the depository of the earnings of most of the working people of the vicinity, and when its crash came there was general suffering. As the other officials of the bank have not been arrested, nothing will be given out as to whether there are charges awaiting. It is said the trial of Wood will be another sensational case of exposing the workings inside a bank that is on the crest of ruin.

A TRAGIC SEQUEL

Widow of Julius Conitz Takes Her Life at Laporte.

Laporte, Ind., May 23.—The closing chapter in the history of a once prominent and wealthy Laporte county couple was enacted when Mrs. Julius Conitz, widow of a former Wanatah banker, took her own life by hanging. Five weeks ago she returned to Indiana from North Dakota, where the couple had gone to rebuild a fortune and repay if possible every dollar lost in their bank, but the widow was morose and downcast. She appeared a wreck, both physically and mentally.

Two years ago Julius Conitz was worth more than $100,000. He became interested in the proposed construction of a railroad in Michigan and invested heavily in the bonds. The project failed and the Wanatah bank went under. Conitz and his wife signed over to a trustee their farms, home and a flouring mill, but the creditors and depositors received but 65 per cent. Declaring he would repay every person if he lived, Conitz and his wife, though both were past the half-century mark, began life over again in North Dakota. One payment of 10 per cent was made, and then in February Conitz died. After that the widow saw nothing more in life to live for.

Prince Will Visit Purdue.
Lafayette, Ind., May 23.—Arrangements have been perfected for the entertainment of Prince Pu Lun, heir to the imperial throne of China, who will come to Lafayette tomorrow afternoon to visit the city and Purdue university. The Lafayette club will be thrown open to the use of Purdue, whose guest the prince will be while in Lafayette. A public reception will be held from 8:30 to 10:30 o'clock on Tuesday night. Prince Pu Lun is to arrive here between the hours and 3 and 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, twenty-five automobiles conveying the party from Indianapolis.

Legislative Committee Planning.
Indianapolis, May 23.—A movement is on foot for the establishment of a state institution for epileptics. The members of the legislative committee appointed for investigating the subject and determining whether such a step is advisable, will probably visit different public institutions during the summer and will not be ready to report on the question until fall.

Caught in Stone Crusher.
Kokomo, Ind., May 23.—Ollie Sexton, fourteen-year-old son of Edward Sexton, was caught in stone-crushing machinery at the Chaffin quarries here, receiving fatal injuries. His skull was fractured for five inches, the ribs were crushed into the lungs and his scalp almost torn off.

Ex-Mayor's Home Robbed.
Muncie, Ind., May 23.—Burglars entered the home of ex-Mayor Edward Tuhey and secured several hundred dollars' worth of valuables, among which was a gold watch belonging to Mr. Tuhey, valued at $125, and another gold watch, belonging to a son, worth $100.

DRIFTING TOWARDS BRIGHT'S DISEASE

Many people who are neglecting symptoms of kidney trouble, hoping "it will wear away," are drifting towards Bright's Disease, which is kidney trouble in one of its worst forms.

FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE

stops irregularities, strengthens the urinary organs and builds up the worn-out tissues of the kidneys so they will perform their functions properly. Healthy kidneys strain out the impurities from the blood as it passes through them. Diseased kidneys do not, and the poisonous waste matter is carried by the circulation to every part of the body, causing dizziness, backache, stomach trouble, sluggish liver, irregular heart action, etc. If you have any signs of Kidney or Bladder Trouble commence taking FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE at once, as it will cure a slight disorder in a few days and prevent a fatal malady. It is pleasant to take and benefits the whole system.

How to Find Out.
You can easily determine if your kidneys are out of order by setting aside for 24 hours a bottle of the urine passed upon arising. If upon examination it is cloudy or milky or has a brick-dust sediment or small particles float about in it, your kidneys are diseased, and FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE should be taken at once.

G. B. Burhans Testifies After Four Years.
G. B. Burhans of Carlisle Center, N. Y., writes: "About four years ago I wrote you stating that I had been entirely cured of a severe kidney trouble by taking less than two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure. It entirely stopped the brick-dust sediment and pain and symptoms of kidney disease disappeared. I am glad to say that I have never had a return of any of those symptoms during the four years that have elapsed, and I am evidently cured to stay cured, and heartily recommend Foley's Kidney Cure to any one suffering from kidney or bladder trouble."
